Euribor-EBF announces Authorised Vendor list for new fee liable model

On 1st October 2013, Euribor-EBF announced that it intends to provide a “data package” of industry benchmarks on a fee liable basis from 1st January 2014.

Euribor-EBF data has been a free of charge service since its inception and from 1st January, 2014 Euribor-EBF’s “data package” of financial benchmarks (Euribor®, Eonia®, Eonia Swap Index® and Eurepo®) will be subject to a fee-for-access based on a tiered subscription model.

Delayed benchmarks will be available on the Euribor-EBF website from the 1st January, 2014 at no charge.

Over the last year, Euribor-EBF has made substantial progress on reforming the Euribor benchmark. These reforms aim to ensure the ongoing integrity and reliability of the benchmarks for all financial market participants. “This has involved significant investments in systems and surveillance to meet the new regulatory oversight and governance requirements” commented Guido Ravoet, Chief Executive of Euribor-EBF, “and this cost needs to be transferred to the end-users of the benchmarks on a user pays basis”.

Live access to the Euribor-EBF benchmarks ((Euribor®, Eonia®, Eonia Swap Index® and Eurepo®) will only be permitted via a new fee liable system, with the “data package” being provided only by Authorised Information Vendors.

Euribor-EBF is pleased to announce its current list of Authorised information vendors.

Authorised Vendor list as of March 2014:

- Thomson Reuters
- Bloomberg
- QUICK Corp
- Markit (for common customers only)
- Six Financial Group
- Interactive Data Corporation (IDC)
- ClassEditori
- Vereinigte Wirtschaftsdienste AG (VWD)
- Reval
- Treasuryview
- Sungard MarketMap
- ARZ
- FactSet
- Rimes

- SuperDerivatives

Banks and non-banks that wish to continue to access to the Euribor-EBF benchmark data after the 1st March, 2014 are encouraged to go to www.euribor-ebf.eu and to subscribe to a licence

Vendors that wish to become Authorised Vendors of the “data package” can contact subscriptions@euribor-ebf.eu for details and terms.

Yours sincerely,

Guido Ravoet
Euribor-EBF Chief Executive
